

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an arrangement of a plurality of electric machines, the electric machines are defined by axes in parallel relationship, wherein the electric machines include a common stator which incorporates a plurality of stator portions. The stator portions of the stator cooperate with rotors which are insertable in the stator portions, whereby the number of rotors corresponds to the number of the axes of the electric machines.